Participation in Funding Programs: University of the People (UoPeople) does not participate in Title IV programs. The modest costs for its degree programs makes this unnecessary. It does have a small pool of scholarship monies available to help the most-needy students with those costs.

Mission & Description:

Institution Mission Statement: The mission of University of the People is to offer affordable, quality, online, degree-granting educational programs to any qualified student.

Areas of Special Focus: UoPeople offers an undergraduate liberal arts education with majors in Business Administration, Community and Public Health, and Computer Science. It also offers an MBA in Management.

Description of Institution: University of the People is a non-profit, tuition-free, accredited online University. It is dedicated to opening access to higher education to qualified high school graduates regardless of financial, geographic, social, or personal constraints. Its innovative educational model is supported by a cadre of talented volunteers who utilize open education resources, open source technology and the latest social learning theory in support of its academic endeavors.

Student Demographic Profile: UoPeople has a highly-diverse student population. Its students come from throughout the United States and around the globe. Often economically disadvantaged, its student body is primarily young adults but it also includes older adults who delayed college-going for financial and family reasons or who are returning to their studies after some years away.

Courses/Programs/Degrees: UoPeople offers the Associate of Science degree and the Bachelor of Science degree. It offers programming in Business Administration, Community and Public Health, and Computer Science at both degree levels. UoPeople also offers a Master of Business Administration (MBA) degree. The Associate of Science degree requires a minimum of 20 courses. With the exception of the major in Community and Public Health that requires a minimum of 39 courses, the Bachelor of Science degree requires a minimum of 40 courses. The MBA program requires a minimum of 12 courses.

Average Program Tuition/Cost per credit hour: At the undergraduate level, there is a $100 Course Assessment Fee that students are charged at the end of each course. The total for course-related fees in the two undergraduate degree levels are as follows:

- Associate's Degree - $2,060 ($100 x 20 courses+$60 application processing fee)
- Bachelor's Degree - $4,060 ($100 x 40 courses+$60 application processing fee)

At the graduate level, there is a $200 Course Assessment Fee. The total for course-related fees in the graduate program is $2,460 ($200 x 12 courses+$60 application processing fee).
